SHE is the "HERO" !!!

(A Self-defence initiative by Andhra Pradesh Judo Association)

- Not always a super hero comes to the rescue of your girl child, but the little legs learn how to save herself or we can call it a "super girl".
- Biggest myth of life "it won't happen to me or our child".
 What if it does? will she would be able to survive.
- Here is the answer for these typical situations. Its SELF-DEFENCE.
- What is Self-defence?
 It means "de-escalation" of potential violence. We can definitely reduce the intensity of potential violence using multiple strategies to keep yourself safe from physical, emotional and mental harm to some degree.
- We would like to conduct full-time self-defence programme and self-defence Workshops around the State of Andhra Pradesh from school level.
- You don't need to be a black belt in martial arts to train in self-defence.
- This kind of awareness is definitely required for a girl child in a country which is topping the list of countries in potential violence against women.
- Our prime motto is help the society as well as the future generations for a safer and stronger environment around our mother, wife, daughters and sisters. So let's just be the change.

The third technical session discussed "Digital Literacy and Effective Use of Social Media" by Dr. Sunitha Ravi, Women Protection and Grievance Cell Incharge, NRIIT.

During the presentation, the resource person highlighted on social networking as one of the most popular online activities, allowing us to communicate, share information, photographs, and videos with anyone around the world and illustrate the potential negative implications of social media, including cyber blackmailing, cyber stalking, bullying, fake profiles, morphing, and indecent representation of women.

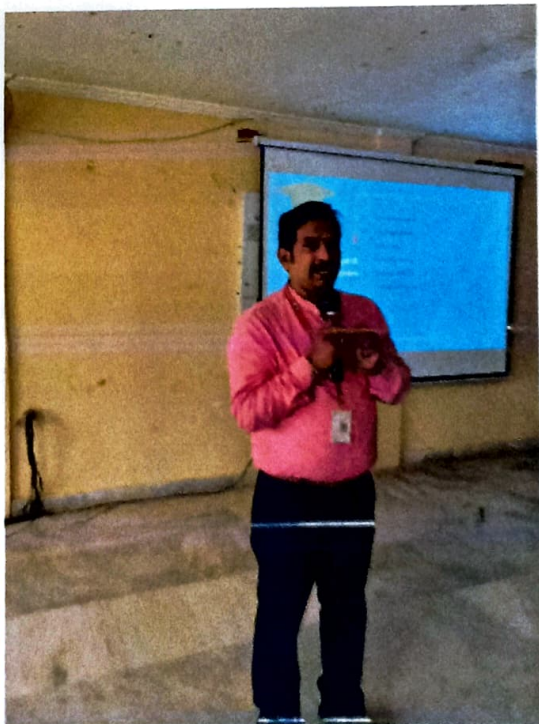

As part of the presentation, Dr. Sunitha Ravi also shared short videos showing how social media is used to trigger young individuals to take their own lives, as well as how people can quickly repost a feed on social media with a different message. The students were therefore encouraged to be cautious and to always read the terms and conditions before accepting, to be alerted if someone attempts to access their account, and many more tips to help them stay safe. During this session, the female students learned how to effectively use social media by becoming cyberaware.

Finally, students are taught how to create social media profiles and safeguard them from hackers. Details on how to safeguard passwords and adjust privacy settings are provided in great depth.

Conclusion

The CBPD programme was very informative and interesting as it encompassed of both lectures and technical inputs that was found to be very helpful for the student participants. The contents of the programme in the different sessions covered a broad perspective that has helped the participants gain knowledge and make effective use of the inputs to enhance their skills for personal development, career and professional development, and wisely use digital media. Apart from the academic achievements, capacitating these skills to students is of core importance to meet the demands of the present day as they serve as supplement and catalyst to the academic achievement of the students for their personal and professional development, which would contribute to both individual and social growth and progress. With the emerging trend of excessive use of digital media in the present era, technological knowhow and soft skills are one of those important attributes for human resource development. Perhaps similar programmes should always be promoted in every academic session so that students do not only take away academic certificates with them but also sets of skills that would empower them in the long run.
